Notes for Nehemiah Babb:

Estate Administration of Nehemiah Babb - September 11, 1640

This document sets forth the legal responsibilities of Mary Babb, the executrix of her late husband Nehemiah Babb's estate, who resided in Great Berkhamstead, Hertfordshire.

Mary is legally bound to properly administer Nehemiah's estate. This includes paying off lawful debts as far as the available assets allow and presenting an accurate inventory of his property, financial obligations, and credits to the court. Additionally, when lawfully required, she must provide an accounting of her administration and distribute any remaining estate to rightful heirs according to legal authority.

If Mary fulfills these duties, the legal bond remains valid. However, if she fails to do so, enforcement actions may be taken against her.

Her signature appears in the document as Marie X Babb, where "X" represents her mark instead of a written signature.

Other individuals mentioned, including Daniel Duke and Thomas Morison, were likely involved in overseeing the legal process or witnessing the execution of the document.
